Disability

Many people do not consider themselves to be disabled, but under the Disability Discrimination Act you can consider yourself disabled if you a/ have a physical or mental impairment or long term health condition and b/ the effects are expected to last or have lasted for a year or longer and have a substantial effect on your ability to carry out day-to-day activities, or your day to day activities would be limited without medication, treatment or adjustments e.g. the use of inhalers, physiotherapy, a hearing or visual aid or insulin.

Taking this into account, do you consider yourself to be a disabled person?
